KEENELAND—BUYERS' MARKET

An inveterate bargain hunter, asked why he didn't go to more auction sales, once answered, "Because I never like to pay more than anyone else is willing to pay." Reduced to Thoroughbred yearling terms, a similar sentiment has been voiced by the man who said, "When I buy privately there is only one seller to contend with, but when I go to the sales I have to wrestle with all the sharp buyers in the country." Everyone likes to wisecrack about the yearling sales, of course, particularly those who spend the most money there. Nevertheless the fact remains that the sales ring is the favorite place, by far, for buying and selling yearlings and seems destined to remain so.

It was, therefore, an entirely logical move when market breeders adjacent to Lexington, Kentucky, constituting the greatest concentration of Thoroughbred stud farms in the world, decided in 1944 to form their own company, The Breeders' Sales Company, and to assemble annually a group of yearlings of such quality that buyers from all over the country would inevitably be attracted to the auction sales at which they were offered. The sales to be held this month will be at the Keeneland Race Course from the 21st to the 24th of this month will be the fifteenth organized by the Company. From the 14 crops of racing age which have changed ownership under these auspices have come the winners, not only once but several times over, of virtually every important race in the country, as well as many major events abroad and in Canada. For example Idun from the Leslie Combs II consignment, for which Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay paid the record auction price for a yearling filly of $63,000 in 1956, the following year justified her new owner's optimism by winning all her starts and a total of $220,955, a new earnings record for a two-year-old filly.

Another time-worn crack about yearling sales is that the fat put on these youngsters for the public eye has only to be taken off again by the trainer and ruins them for racing anyway. It is, of course, true, no matter how much they may say to the contrary, that buyers prefer yearlings in good flesh—after all good doers make good race horses. It may have been true in the old days that some breeders gave their yearlings very little exercise in order to put fat on them, thus affecting their future speed and stamina. But to-day virtually all the youngsters led into the ring are fit as well as in good flesh—either they have separate paddocks in which to run or they are exercised with a pony. As a matter of fact the only present reason for putting excess fat on a yearling is the fear that he may lose condition in the course of a long shipment, a fear not found at Keene-land since the youngsters come from stud farms in the immediate vicinity.

The yearlings purchased at the first fourteen sales have earned considerably more than they cost, a record which will most certainly be duplicated by those offered ten days hence. All the buyers now have to decide is which will be the biggest bargains.

Letters

Small Welsh Ponies

Dear Sir:

I note with alarm that some breeders are interested in developing a smaller Welsh pony. This would be a tragedy. I speak with a voice of experience with children down through the years.

The Mountain Welsh pony is now a perfect size for very small children, teenagers or even small adults. These adorable little animals have been too carefully bred to have their perfection experimented with. The sixty-four dollar question is—why?

We have the tiny pony in other breeds. Too small for any child but a baby to ride, who naturally is too young and not strong enough to handle them. Consequently, we see children mounted on them who are too large. It is a sad picture and makes a child look awkward. These little ponies make wonderful live toys for adults and do bring high prices in some markets. I am sure the Man Upstairs made little horses for little people, and God forbid that the 11 to 12.2 Welsh ever be reduced to an adult's toy.

I hope you may see fit to publish this in the interest of what is now a perfect sized mount for children.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. R. W. Mitchell
Columbia, Ky.

Conditioning

Dear Sir:

I am very much interested in the editorial, "Condition and Performance" in the June 13th issue of The Chronicle. I would like to see an article on the same subject appear in The Chronicle, one written for those of us who are our own grooms, caring for our horses with little or no outside help. Of great help to me

Bold Ruler Gives Stellar Performance in Suburban

Raleigh Burroughs

In summing up the big races that took place on Independence Day, a writer for one of the syndicates said that Bold Ruler had taken another step toward becoming the Horse of the Year for the second time.

This might seem a bit premature in view of what Tim Tam did before pulverizing a sesamoid, and the way Round Table has been building up his bankroll. Just before the Belmont Stakes, I clearly remember that some writer elected Tim Tam Horse of the Year.

Bold Ruler's performance in the Suburban Handicap was the kind that makes close observers of the sport forget their observations of the past.

Giving from 18 to 29 pounds to the other seven members of his field and winning at 1 1/4 miles in 2:01 is the work of a superior horse. If there are any flaws in a Thoroughbred's make-up they show when the impost goes over 130 pounds.

Bold Ruler toted 134, and he would have made a runaway of it if Clem, under 109, hadn't been in the race.

With Round Table in Chicago and *Gallant Man at Hollywood Park, the only thing in New York that is likely to beat Bold Ruler is Mr. Frank E. Kilroe, handicapper.

*Gallant Man took a decision over Bold Ruler in the Metropolitan, but Mr. Kilroe gave him five pounds worth of help. Then *Gallant Man headed for Hollywood. It might be wise of his connections to claim the championship on the basis of victory in that one-mile gallop. Remember what happened last year in the Trenton! For those who don't remember, *Gallant Man and Round Table stormed into Camden, bristling for a fight, and Bold Ruler gunned 'em down. In all probability, Bold Ruler was better that afternoon last November than ever before in his life, and that's no time to start trading punches with one of Mr. Fitz's horses.

Belmont Park

Bold Ruler gave the customers a stellar performance in the Suburban, on July 4. Beau Diable showed in front at the end of the first quarter, with Clem a length back and Bold Ruler lapped on Clem. Third Brother wasn't far behind.

When they had covered a half mile, the front three were as a team, a length ahead of Third Brother.

Then, Beau Diable began to weaken, and Bold Ruler took the lead. With a quarter of a mile to go, he was a length on top, Clem was second, Third Brother was third and Inside Tract got up to fourth place long enough to have his name mentioned on the loud-speaker.

Bending into the stretch, Bold Ruler increased his lead and was two on top at the eighth pole. But Clem wasn't done. In the race to the wire, he collared the Wheatley colt, and then Bold Ruler showed his stuff. He got his 134-pound burden to the wire a nose before Clem could get there with his 109.

Third Brother was a length and a half back in third place. Sharpsburg, which had been fifth most of the trip, was fourth. He was 1 1/4 lengths back of Third Brother.

Arcaro rode Bold Ruler; Conn McCready was aboard Clem.

The race was worth $53,360. That makes Bold Ruler's 1958 earnings $139,222. He has 4 wins and 1 second in 5 starts.

He bagged the Toboggan, Carter and Stymie Handicaps before the Suburban.

His lifetime total of $693,432 puts him in ninth place among the greatest money-winners of the world.

Bold Ruler is by *Nasrullah, out of the Discovery mare, Miss Disco. Wheatley Stable owns the four-year-old colt, and bred him.

Mr. Jim Fitzsimmons trains him. Wheatley belongs to Mrs. H. C. Phipps.

heart, by Bull Lea, snatched the lead away from Lea Moon after half a mile and gradually stretched out her margin to three lengths. She won easily, under Bill Hartack.

Lopar took second place, Lea Moon was third and Big Effort, fourth.

Idun paid $2.90 for $2 in the mutuels.

Undefeated, with 8 wins in 8 starts last season, Idun has 3 for 4 in '58. She finished fourth behind A Glitter in a six-furlong allowance race late in May.

The Mother Goose was worth $18,420.
Idun has season's earnings of $28,045.

She earned $220,955 in 1957.

Sherrill Ward trains Idun. She was bred by Leslie Combs and John W. Hanes.

Monmouth Park

The Colleen Stakes, at Monmouth, quickly developed into a contest between Wheatley Stable's Lady Be Good and Mr.
D. P. Reynolds' Lawdy Claudy. Eddie Arcaro was on Lawdy Claudy so that two-year-old miss was made the choice at 1 to 2.

Lady Be Good, under Ted Atkinson, dashed away from the gate smartly and had a two-length lead after going two furlongs.
Lawdy Claudy spent the rest of the race trying to catch up. She failed by three-quarters of a length.

Sybil Brand, third most of the way,
ended up in that position.

Rich Tradition was fourth.

Lady Be Good, the second choice, paid off at $7.20 per two-buck investment.

Her owner collected $15,772.50. (Here comes that loose change again).

Lady Be Good (Better Self-Past Eight, by Eight Thirty) has won 4 races and been second once in 5 starts. Her earnings total $41,940 and change.

The Colleen is at 5 1/2 furlongs.

Wheatley Stable bred Lady Be Good, and Mr. Fitz is head trainer for that outfit.

been 12 winners, because the race was run in two divisions every year from 1953 to 1957, inclusive.

The '58 running of the one-mile turf event went to Mrs. Robert Herff's *Tudor Era, top-weight and favorite in the field of 12.

Jockey Logan Batcheller held *Tudor Era off the pace for the first half mile. As the field tightened up with a quarter to go, *Tudor Era was sixth, but only 3 1/2 lengths behind Hellanicus, which had wrested the lead from Even Stroke, the early pace-setter.

At the eighth pole, *Tudor Era was in second position; Hellanicus was on top by three. *Tudor Era nailed the leader in the closing strides and won by a head.

*Ben Lomond was third, Passyunk, fourth.

*Tudor Era, an English-bred son of Owne Tudor, from Erica Fragrans, by Big Game, earned $15,935.

He carried an impost of 124 to Hellanicus' 118. The mutuels payoff was $6.20.

*Tudor Era's 1958 record reads 3 wins, 1 second and 2 thirds in 9 starts. Money earned totals $44,235. He won 6 of 19 and collected $75,500 last year.

Sidney Jacobs trains *Tudor Era.

The Stars and Stripes Handicap was the feature event at Washington Park on July 4, and Terra Firma used it to prove that his victory in the Ohio Derby was no accident. He won by a nose over the hot favorite, Lincoln Road. Judge was nine lengths back in third place, half a length before Olymar.

Nadir, the greatest horse to win the 1957 Garden State Stakes, was seventh in a dull effort.

Talent Show, beaten favorite in Delaware Park's Kent and in the Ohio Derby, finished last of nine.

Lincoln Road, which had not raced since May 24, when he won the Jersey (beating *Cavan among others), was top-weighted at 124 pounds. Terra Firma carried 118.

Getting away swiftly, as usual, Lincoln Road drew out to be four on top with four furlongs behind. Terra Firma was in third place. After six furlongs, Terra Firma was second and the leader's margin was two lengths.

At the eighth pole, Lincoln Road still was half a length in front, but Terra Firma kept sawing away and got the decision right on the wire. Two-dollar tickets were redeemed for $19.00.

It was Terra Firma's biggest victory, worth $54,800. L. C. Cook, regular rider of the son of Ky. Colonel-Bellerine, by Sir Damion, was up for the Stars and Stripes.

The victory was the fourth in 11 starts this season for Terra Firma. He has been third twice and has earnings of $87,735. He won $93,915 last year.

Terra Firma was bred by R. Douglas Prewitt, who occasionally leaves his Kentucky farm to do a job of training.

Terra Firma was put up for sale at Keeneland, the past spring, and H. E. Olson took the colt for $35,000. Prewitt has been handling the training of the colt since, and recently "bought back in", so Terra Firma now races for Olson and Prewitt.

E. Gay Drake's Swoon's Son beat Ezgo by two-lengths to take the six-furlong Myrtlewood Handicap on July 5.

Shoerullah was third, Prize Host, fourth.

The $20,800 to the winner put Swoon's Son at $44,290 for the season and made his lifetime total $813,195. Dave Erb rode the son of The Doge-Swoon, by Sweep Like.

Mr. Drake bred him.

Swoon's Son is five years old. He was held at a bit better than even money, paying $4.20 for $2.

Delaware Park

The Sussex Turf Handicap, at 1 3/8 miles (July 5) went to F. E. Power's *Hinou Festival, and Jockey Pete Anderson chalked up another stakes victory. As so often has happened in the recent past, Tommy Barry was the trainer of Anderson's mount.

Fresh from victory in the Macomber Handicap at Suffolk Downs, *Hindu Festival was made second choice in the Sussex; also, he was second high-weight under 122. Rafty was the favorite and carried the biggest burden, 126 pounds.

Anxious Moment cut out the early pace, but *Hindu Festival caught him three-eighths of a mile from home and held a length advantage over Pop Corn at the end. Pop Corn rushed up in the late stages to take the place from One-Eyed King by a neck. Anxious Moment was fourth.

In earning $23,750, *Hindu Festival pushed up his season's earnings to $43,211. He has 2 wins and a second in 4 starts in this country. A four-year-old brown ridgeling, he raced 8 times in England and Ireland last year and won 1 race.

He was bred in Ireland, by J. A. Mc-Enery.

Finish of the Irish Derby - American owner Mrs. A. B. Biddle's Sindon (left) beats Paddy's Point by a nose. (Independent Newspapers)

The Irish Derby

Philip de Burgh-O'Brien

At the Curragh, the old Gods were in turmoil. Zeus, riding grey steeds across the heavens, sent down his fountains and bolts. Apollo was sullen; Vulcan, vengeful; Juno, in her most spiteful humor. Then, Aphrodite intereeded, smiled on the brave American lady from o'er the seas. Mere mortals joined the Gods in deplored the absence of Epsom Derby winner, Hard Ridden, for Gods and people dearly love a champion! After the race, a bookmaker wiped sweat and rain off his brow, thought happily of his motherless family of seven, who would this night eat cake. A nearby horseplayer said hurtful things of jockeys, as he tore his Paddy's Point ticket into a dozen pieces.

On this rain-soaked Curragh there were a dozen starters, including Paddy's Point, favorite at 6 to 4, and Nagami, at 9 to 4, second and third, respectively, in the Epsom Derby. In an epic finish all the excitement was confined to the last few yards where American owner, Mrs.

A. B. Biddle's, Sindon, barely held on to win by the shortest of short heads, from Paddy's Point, with Royal Highway 4 lengths off, and the rest of the field well strung out.

This race was won by jockeyship. Sindon, a horse that had never won a race, favored by the early slow pace, was always skillfully placed by rider Ward. Robinson, on the favorite, in my opinion, made his effort much too late, a furlong out, and fifteen lengths off the pace. He found beaten horses in his way and ran into lots of trouble. When he finally got clear his mount responded gallantly, making up ground at every stride. As they flashed by the post no one could say with certainty which had prevailed, but the photo showed Sindon's nose inches in front. Paddy's Point, must have won had his stamina been used from the turn into the straight; the heavy going suited him, and it is safe to say that he was the only fresh horse at the finish.

Few will deny Mrs. Biddle her first premier success in Irish racing, of which she is a munificent patron. Sindon, by the Hunt Cup winner, Hyperbole, is out of Cotton Wood by Donatello II costing 1,150 guineas at Ballsbridge sales. Virtually unbacked, he started at odds of 12 and a half to 1. The race was worth 7,345 Pounds to the winner; 1,511 Pounds to the second; 919 Pounds to the third. It

GOLD VASE FOR AMERICAN OWNER

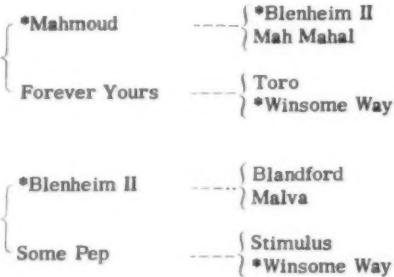

On the opening day of the Royal Ascot Meeting, Irish trainer Vincent O'Brien achieved the first leg of a great Gold Vase - Gold Cup double, which had last been done ten years ago by Semblat for Marcel Boussac, when Even Money ran out the easiest of winners in a field of eighteen for this two mile event.

By Krakatao, Even Money had run second to the Derby colt Alberta Blue in his previous race, and was a strongly backed favorite at 9-4. He is owned by Mr. Carleton H. Palmer of Connecticut.

THE CHRONICLE

Godfrey at Charles Town

There is one owner of race horses at Charles Town track who - as toastmasters say - needs no introduction. He is Arthur Godfrey.

The genial television and radio star is campaigning his Beacon Hill Farm's string at this delightful small course in the Blue Ridge foothills for the third consecutive summer.

Godfrey is at Charles Town by choice. He had his fling at the big tracks, the fancy purses and high-priced horses after entering the sport in May of 1954. He paid $38,500 for his first colt (Lord Willin') and $17,500 for a filly (Fraulein), but it was at Charles Town in 1956 that an inexpensive horse he bred himself (Gala Dice) gave him his first winning streak - two wins in a row.

"It's just as much fun to win cheap races as it is to lose expensive ones," the famous red-head has been quoted, and fun is what Godfrey is getting out of the sport now, after a hectic and heralded beginning.

The Godfrey farm in rural Loudoun County, Virginia, is only about 30 miles from Charles Town and there Godfrey is experiencing the thrill of breeding the horses that carry his blue and white silks to victory.

When another of Godfrey's home-bred, Punch Board, won here recently Mrs. Godfrey and her daughter were present for the winner's circle ceremonies.

Racing on the minor circuit in West Virginia and Maryland also holds another advantage for Godfrey. His long-time personal friend, 44-year old Shirley Payne, is able to train his horses. Payne, who lives in Berryville, Va., not far from Godfrey, is a former show ring performer and steeplechase jockey who annually is among the top trainers here.

It wasn't until Godfrey, a capable show ring rider himself, despaired of his luck with costly horses in big stakes races and turned the stable over to Payne here that it began to show a profit.

"Mr. Godfrey is well satisfied now, I believe, and certainly having a good time in the sport," says Payne, who also has horses for ten other owners at Charles Town.

Godfrey is not his first prominent patron, however. It was Payne who brought out the first race horses for Joseph E. O'Connell, the Boston banker whose *Cavan scored the year's biggest upset by defeating the ill-fated Tim Tam in the Belmont Stakes.

As was the case with Godfrey, it was the show ring which brought O'Connell and Payne together. Shirley had trained O'Connell's My Bill which became the top show horse in the country in 1950.

As Godfrey and O'Connell both know now, racing is fun when you have a winner - at Belmont Park or Charles Town.

Yearling Breaking

The Ellsworth System

Writing in "The Morning Telegraph", columnist Oscar Otis gives the following account of the system used by Rex Ellsworth and his trainer Meshach Tenney, for breaking and conditioning their Thoroughbred yearlings for the track. "Mesh Tenney, trainer for owner and breeder Rex Ellsworth, has completed the first stages of a novel method (in the Thoroughbred world at least) of breaking his yearlings, even though it is only May. The breaking process began on March 12, or just after the close of Santa Anita. It consisted of riding the yearlings, under lightweight boys, up and down a mountain-side.

"Tenney explains it was this way: 'This is the second crop we have broken in this manner and I am highly pleased with the results. While we ride the horses up and down the side of a hill which varies in steepness, at no time is a yearling going any faster than a walk.'

"Once the yearlings, and we have about 56 of them this year, learn their lessons, we turn them out as is customary at all farms, but we continue to walk them on the hillside at carefully spaced periods until they are ready for the racetrack and more rapid motion late in September or early in October.

"We have a sandy hill at one extreme corner of one of our ranches near Chino. This hill has been laid out in trails, a notable feature being switchbacks, turns so sharp that a car, or a horse, in this instance, must stop and turn in a small space to head in the opposite direction.

"The benefits of this training to date have been, to our thinking, tremendous. Already, the current crop of yearlings has learned control, handling and adjustability. Walking up the more or less steep hillsides builds them up physically, but at the same time puts no real strain on their legs, as in galloping or breezing. This system of breaking yearlings is a good old Arizona custom with broncos and other types of riding horses. If a yearling is properly taught and the time comes to start breezing, he is so far advanced in his schooling over the ordinary yearlings that the difference is startling.

"Too much wear and tear is placed on the average yearling, and too much pressure put on tender legs. Galloping the horse just to teach him lessons which he should have learned early and without such pressure, is detrimental. I firmly believe the unnecessary strain put on yearlings in teaching them fundamentals, quite apart from what is necessary for them to be ready for their debut at the races, is one of the major causes for unsoundness in Thoroughbreds sooner or later in their careers, the sooner or later depending upon the individual horse.'

"It might be mentioned that the mountain-side, or hill, which Tenney is using for his schooling, has been carefully selected for the contour of the trails. Some of these trails, those used at first, are very gentle, and the turns can be negotiated easily by the horse. From there, they range to zig-zag and steep courses up the hill with turns so difficult that the horse must carefully turn around in a very small area. This necessitates adroit footwork. The horses are walked, under light weight, about three furlongs from their paddocks, given a leisurely time on the hillside, and then walked back another three-eighths of a mile.

"Tenney's methods, in many important respects, are considered in some circles 'unorthodox'. Be that as it may, we've never known him to have a fractious horse in the paddock or a bad post horse. His horses behave themselves at all times."

KEENELAND FILLIES' NEXT-OF-KIN

Fifty of the yearling fillies catalogued for the July 21-24 Keeneland Summer Sale, to be conducted by the Breeders' Sales Company, are half-sisters to one or more stakes winners.

Summer Tan, High Gun, Alerted, Sea O Erin, Greek Ship, Ruhe, and Miss Request are but a few of the outstanding Thoroughbreds with next-of-kin in the forthcoming auction.

Winner of $542,796, Summer Tan has a half-sister by Helioscope, consigned by Reno B. Renfrew, in the vendue.

High Gun, winner of $486,025, has a half-sister also by Helioscope named to the sale by the Palmeadow Farms of K. M. and W. P. Little.

Alerted won $440,485 and Mr. Renfrew consigns his half-sister by Revoked. Sea O Erin earned $407,259 and his half-sister by Polynesian is owned by the White Oaks Farm of Miss Mildred W. Woolwine. This half-sister to Sea O Erin also bears the same relationship to stakes winners Saggy and Gainsboro Girl.

Harry B. Scott, Jr., is the owner of the yearling half-sister to Greek Ship. By Roman, she's also a half-sister to four other stakes winners - Sky Ship, Rampart, Noble Hero and Ria Rica.

Mereworth Farm, managed by Mrs. F. Warrington Gillet and Walter J. Salmon, Jr., has catalogued a Dark Star half-sister to three stakes winners - Ruhe, winner of $294,490, Sturdy One, winner of $202,970, and Keeneland's Breeders' Futurity victor Alladier.

Miss Request won $202,730 and her half-sister by Spy Song has been named to the sale by Dr. and Mrs. R. Smiser West.

Other stakes winners, each with earnings over $100,000, with half-sisters in the auction, include: Boston Doge, Ben A. Jones, Pink Velvet, Blue Banner, Hyphasis, Red Hanningan, and Shan Pac.

KEENELAND FILLIES

Stakes winners First Aid, Royal Coinage, Oil Rich, Tiger Wander, Pleasant Time, Neptune II and Skeptical Kid have full sisters among the 389 yearlings to be sold by the Breeders' Sales Company on July 21-24 at the Keeneland sales pavilion.

Lucas B. Combs is the consignor of the sister to First Aid. By *Barnborough out of Humane, First Aid earned $216,437 through 1957, winning nine stakes races.

The Eight-Thirty-Canina sister to Royal Coinage, consigned by Mereworth Farm, is also a half-sister to stakes successful War Command. Royal Coinage won the Great American and Sapling Stakes and the Saratoga Special, and earned $70,725. War Command, by War Admiral, has 22 victories, with earnings of $122,500.

Oil Rich, winner of the Rancocas Stakes, second in the Rosedale and Fashion and third in the National Stallion Stakes, is by Phalanx out of Oil Princess. Her sister is consigned to the Keeneland auction by Elmendorf Farm.

Helen H. Fortune is the consignor of the sister to Tiger Wander. By Tiger-Whither Wander, Tiger Wander has earned over $53,000, winning the Bashford Manor, Apprentice and Joliet Stakes, with a second in Keeneland's Lafayette Stakes.

Pleasant Time, a daughter of With Pleasure-Pagoda, won the Miss Cleveland Stakes, with a second in the Summer Stakes. Her sister is consigned to the July auction by Kingston Farm.

The sister to Neptune II - and a half-sister to stakes winner Golly - has been entered in the forthcoming vendue by B. M. Browning. Neptune II, by Crafty Admiral out of Timely Tune, won the Prix Robert Papin and Prix Morny in France last year, while Golly, by Alorier, is a winner of the Churchill Downs Debutante Stakes.

Skeptical Kid has won over $43,000, with a victory in the Duncan F. Kenner Stakes and third in the Lafayette and Apprentice Stakes. His yearling sister is consigned at Keeneland by Murlogg Farm.

BELMONT JUVENILES

In spite of the dire predictions that allowing children to go racing in New York would destroy the complete moral fabric of the younger generation, everything went off smooth as silk the first Saturday after Mr. Hanes, president of the New York Racing Association, announced that the bar against kids was removed.

There were no lost children, there were no unruly children, and there were no recorded instances of a child's being turned into a gambler right off from having gone to the races. It may have cut into the baby sitter business a little because families could go together without having to leave the kids home with a sitter. Aside from that, everybody seemed quite happy with the new situation. Everybody that is except one man I talked to who was minding a three-year-old with chocolate all over her face while the mother went off to bet. He said kids were a nuisance and he liked the old way better whereby he could leave the wife AND the kid at home - or maybe it was leave the kid AND the wife. Either way, he liked it better as was, no children. R. J. Clark

MINUS TRAINERS

Two of the most famous racing stables in the world are currently without trainers. Ivan Parke, who trained the horses of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Maine Chance Farm Stable for the last ten months and under whom Jewel's Reward ran some of his best races, has resigned. Charles Elliott, who has trained the horses of Marcel Boussac in France for 25 years, who has been his private trainer for the last five years, and who won for M. Boussac all of Europe's great classics, is no longer connected with the Boussac stable.

RIDING FEATS

Racing patrons at Waterford Park will continue to chatter for some time about the riding feat of Jockey Arthur Green who booted home four winners out of six mounts during the current meeting.

All-time Waterford record, however, is held by William Hartack who was astride five of six winners on July 7, 1953.

The greatest riding record ever set by a jockey on a major track was turned in on October 1, 1956 by John Heckmann at Hawthorne when he guided home seven of his eight mounts. The only comparable feat was that of Joe Sylvester at Ravenna Park in Ohio on October 18, 1930. Sylvester also won with seven of his eight chances, but that was on a smaller, half mile course.

The first rider ever to ride six winners in one day was James Lee, a colored jockey, on June 5, 1907 at Churchill Downs to set a mark which was not duplicated until July 5, 1916 when Apprentice Herman Phillips swept the six-race program at Reno, Nevada.

For many years Walter Miller, among the greatest ever to sling a booted heel across a Thoroughbred's back, held the world's record for riding 388 winners in a single year, a mark fractured by Tony DeSpirito with 390 wins in 1952, and by Willie Shoemaker whose 485 wins in 1953 constitute a record which may never be topped. Yet Miller's greatest thrill came on April 3, 1906 when he rode the winners of the last five races and continued the next day with the first three, a sizzling eight in a row. This happened at the old Bennings race track at Washington, D. C.

His record remained intact until 1930 when Albert Adams, 17-year-old rider performing at Marlboro, Md., won with nine straight over a two-day period. His mark was destined to be short-lived, however, eclipsed by Gordon Richards who added three more to the record when he scored with twelve consecutive winners in England in 1933.

THE CHRONICLE

KEENELAND COLTS

Fifty-four of the yearling colts to be sold at the Keeneland Summer Sale of July 21-24 are half-brothers to one or more stakes winners.

Such outstanding American race horses as Blue Man, Nail, Decathlon, Be Fleet, Blue Volt, Quiet Step, Terra Firma, Brown Booter, Bernburgoo and this year's excellent two-year-old filly Lawdy Claudy have next of kin in the forthcoming auction, to be conducted by the Breeders' Sales Company.

Decathlon, a Keeneland sales yearling himself, twice was named champion sprinter and earned $269,530 prior to retirement from the racing wars. Hurstland Farm of the Nuckles Brothers has entered a half-brother to Decathlon - by leading sire *Princequillo.

Blue Man won five major stakes, including the Preakness, and earned $277,035 prior to retirement to the stud. T. O. Campbell is the consignor of an Eternal Bull half-brother to Blue Man to the forthcoming sales.

Nail won the Futurity, Pimlico Futurity and Remsen Stakes and his earnings totalled $250,230. A half-brother by Native Dancer will be offered for sale by the Shawnee Farm of Mrs. Parker B. Poe.

Be Fleet won $162,000, scoring in four West Coast stakes, including the San Juan Capistrano. A half-brother by *Royal Gem II has been consigned to the Keeneland vendue by E. D. Axton.

The yearling half-brother to Blue Volt, consigned by James D. Drymon's Strodes Creek Farm, also is a half-brother to stakes winner Blue Dart. Blue Volt won 16 races and earned $169,815, while Blue Dart had eight victories with earnings of $64,665.

Quiet Step's earnings totalled $157,435 and his half-brother by *Royal Gem II will be sold by the Elmendorf Farm of Max Gluck.

Terra Firma, now racing as a three-year-old, has won over $100,000. His half-brother by *Flushing II is consigned by R. D. Prewitt's Prewitt Place. A Crafty Admiral half-brother to Brown Booter is being sold by C. E. Buckley's Hiddenaway Farm; a *Nizami II half-brother to Bernburgoo is consigned by George M. Holtsinger and John W. McIlvain; while Warner L. Jones, Jr. will sell a Bolero half-brother to Lawdy Claudy.

FRANCE DRAWS BLANK AT ASCOT

For the first time since the war, not one single French horse won a race at the Royal Ascot Meeting. Seven managed to gain places, including six owned by the Aly Khan. By the end of the meeting the riding of his jockey Jean Massard came in for considerable criticism, especially on the French One Thousand Guineas winner Yla who was beaten a short-head in the Coronation Stakes after entering the short straight next to last. VIRUS ABORTION

Dr. E. R. Doll, of the University of Kentucky, elaborating on his recent proposal for mass vaccination by spraying the nostrils for virus abortion, pointed out that respiratory diseases were the cause and that there were three completely different viruses involved, namely, Rhinopneumonitis; Arteritis, commonly referred to as Pink Eye; and Influenza.

KEENELAND BOUND

Full brothers to Idun, White Skies, Prince John, Queen Hopeful, Second Avenue, Jean Baptiste and Martins Rullah have been consigned to the Keeneland summer sale of yearlings, to be conducted by the Breeders' Sales Company on July 21-24.

All of the aforementioned stakes winners are themselves products of previous Keeneland yearling auctions.

Champion two-year-old filly of 1957, Idun, by *Royal Charger-Tige O'Myheart, the highest priced yearling filly ever sold at public auction, brought $63,000 at the Keeneland summer sale of 1956.

Unbeaten in eight starts last year, she won a record $220,955. Victorious in her 1958 debut at Garden State Park on May 10, her victory string finally was snapped in a sprint at Belmont Park on May 27.

Leslie Combs II, consignor of Idun to the sales, also consigns her brother to this year's venue.

Mrs. John D. Hertz's Stoner Creek Stud which a few years ago sold Prince John, Martins Rullah, and Jean Baptiste, now has consigned their brothers to the forthcoming auction.

Prince John by *Princequillo-Not Afraid, and Jean Baptiste, *Ambiorix-Jittery Jane, were sold at the 1954 summer sales - the former for $14,300 and the latter for $13,000. An accident limited Prince John's racing career to his juvenile campaign, but he won $212,818 capturing the Garden State Stakes. Jean Baptiste earned $38,500, winning the Albany Stakes, with a second in the Gotham and a third in the Hopeful.

Martins Rullah, by *Nasrullah-Shy Katie, sold for $60,000 at the 1956 Keeneland sales. With a victory in this year's Experimental Handicap highlighting his career thus far, he has returned to his owners $47,959.

The Hurstland Family of the Nuckles Brothers, which in 1950 sold White Skies as a Keeneland yearling for $7,500, offers his brother at this July's sale.

Champion sprinter in 1954, White Skies earned $246,025, winning ten major stakes races, finishing second or third in six others. The son of Sun Again-Milk Dipper suffered a broken hind leg in a workout at Jamaica in May of 1955 and had to be destroyed.

Consigned by George A. Hume, Jr. in the summer of 1952, Queen Hopeful sold for $5,800. At the races, she scored 18 times - nine of them stakes - and earned $365,044. Her brother by Roman-Playfull has been entered for this year's sale by Melvin Carter.

Leslie B. Combs II sold Second Avenue in 1948 for $4,000 and the son of War Jeep-Euneva went on to win $170,942, capturing four midwest stakes engagements. W. G. Talbot consigns Second Avenue's brother this year.

JOHN M. GAVER PRESIDES AT 1958 YEARLING SHOW

John M. Gaver, distinguished trainer of Greentree Stable and manager of Greentree Stud, will judge the entries of the 1958 Yearling Show at Monmouth Park on Wednesday, July 16. The Show, sponsored by the Thoroughbred Horse Breeders' Association of New Jersey, is held annually in the English Walking Ring of the fashionable seaside track. This year will mark the twelfth consecutive year that homebreds have vied for the trophies presented by Monmouth Park, the ribbons by the Breeders' Association and the Breeders' cash awards made possible by contributions from the three flat racing plants in the State.

Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, Jr., president of the THBA of NJ and breeder of last year's Champion of Show, will preside as Honorary Chairman. The 1957 Champion was a chestnut colt by Your Host out of Rash Hurry, by John P. Grier. Now named Departing Guest, he was purchased by Maine Chance Farm at the Saratoga Sales last August.

HARD SAUCE FILLY

Hard Ridden, winner of the 1958 Epsom Derby, is by Sir Victor Sassoon's celebrated young sire Hard Sauce. Hard Sauce, who is by Ardan, is also the sire of a sucking filly out of *Cadrilla by *Donatello II, imported last fall by the Russel J. Fosbinders of Clearfield Farm in Peapack. The mare dropped the foal on January 28 at Meadowview Farms in Moorestown where she was bred to the syndicate-owned Your Host.

Mile, Lorette and her dam Gallorette were both bred to Your Host this season.

Meadowview Farms, Inc., in Moorestown, the court of Your Host, will offer two colts by the sire, one a bay out of Demolition, by *Foray II, the other a chestnut out of Snarkling, by Snark. As agent for Miss Emily L. Stevens of Redfields Stable, Bedminster, Meadowview will also sell a bay filly by Your Host out of Chance Gain by Chance Shot.

Your Host (*Alibhai-*Boudoir, by *Mahmoud) is owned by a syndicate and stands at Meadowview Farms, Inc. in Moorestown, N. J.

PENNSYLVANIA

Gaudeamus, four-year-old son of Olympia out of Show Time, by Eight Thirty will enter the stud in the 1959 breeding season. The young horse will stand at Richard C. McDevitt's Hillsover Farm in Malvern, Pa. Owned jointly by the Milton Erlangers of Oakhurst and McDevitt, he raced as a two-year-old in Mrs. Erlanger's colors. He set a track record at Monmouth Park in 1956, running five furlongs in .58. The same year he was third in the Christiana Stakes and was withdrawn from racing after sustaining an injury.

MARYLAND

COUNTRY LIFE FARM

John Pons, now serving his fifth term as president of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, and his brother, Joe, can take pride in the fact that their Country Life Farm, near Bel Air, Md., bred six horses which won stakes in 1957 - Dance Card (Polly Drummond); Some Classic (St. Louis Derby); Pylades (Santa Barbara Handicap); Sags Gem (George Washington Handicap); Outer Space (Mother Goose); and Stratmat (Lamplighter Handicap).

VIRGINIA

THEY DIDN'T BUCK

It is a tribute to Hildene and to the soil and farm program at Christopher T. Chenery's "The Meadow", Doswell, Va., that, according to trainer Casey Hayes, neither Hill Prince, Prince Hill or Third Brother ever bucked their shins. So far, the most recent stakes winner out of this wonderful mare, First Landing, now a 2-year-old, has not bucked either.

A Horseman And A Gentleman

Alexis Wrangel

"Col. G. - late of the Russian Imperial Army Nth cavalry regiment, after a short illness at the age of 77 years in Paris, February 1957."

This notice in the obituary column caught my eye as I turned over the page of a French newspaper. I stared at it as memories flooded my mind.

Financial Reverses

Paris, June 1950. I was on leave from the Air Force, and for a few days in Paris. A series of rather disastrous "investments" at the Longchamp racetrack, an extended evening at Maxim's and other Parisian pleasures had left my finances in a sad state. There was no question of staying another night at the Prince of Wales. Packing my suitcase I strolled down to the lobby of the hotel to consult the concierge.

The bell captain (concierge in French) of a Paris Hotel fulfills many extra curricular roles in addition to his normal functions. He is on occasion a discreet councilor on the overt and covert pleasures of the French Metropolis, a father confessor, a bookie.... in fact the concierge is really the fountainhead of Parisian knowledge and wisdom.

After an exchange of amenities with this worthy man, which included my unobtrusively pressing a thousand franc note into his hand which just as unobtrusively pocketed the money, I stated my business; I was looking for a small quiet hotel, which was not expensive.

"Ah Monsieur", answered the concierge, "I am really sorry that "Epanomondas" failed so badly into the fifth race, and that we shall no longer have you as our guest."

I did not comment on this Sherlock Holmesian deduction; and the concierge, having dwelt at some length on the poor showing of the favorites during the season's Longchamp meeting, proceeded finally to advise me on a choice of a cheap hotel.

The Hotel Midi

The hotel was in a small and dingy street, its entrance illuminated by one solitary bulb casting a bleary light on a weather-beaten sign, Hotel Midi. It was a far cry from the plush entrance of the Prince of Wales which I had just left. I entered a gloomy lobby with few tables and chairs scattered aimlessly about, presumably just to fill space. At the far end of the lobby behind a large wooden desk sat the night clerk. I walked over to register and he got up to greet me. I was looking at an old white-haired man, poorly but neatly dressed, with the red ribbon of the Legion d'Honneur in the buttonhole of his black coat. His looks of quiet superiority contrasted strangely with the background of the 3rd rate hotel. As I signed my name I looked up and saw an amused smile on his face:

"Excuse me, Sir", he said, "but are you by any chance the son of General Wrangel?" I answered in the affirmative. "Your father and I soldiered together", he said: - "My name is Col. G....."

Colonel G.

I had heard of him: stories of a dandy, a rich young officer in one of the Czar's crack cavalry regiments, a lover of the ladies, but above all an ardent horseman. Horseshows: - St. Petersburg, Vienna, London, Stockholm - all the big International competitions had seen Col. G..... in his black tunic and white cap, always laughing, always carefree, and always in the ribbons. He spent a fortune on his horses - the finest money could buy, brought from Ireland, England and France by avid horse dealers who knew that he paid whatever they asked. Then one day, a day that changed History, the armies of Europe were on the march; World War I and Captain G.... rode forth with his regiment. Three years of war: - East Russia, Poland, The Carpathian mountains, Rumania. Then the Russian Revolution, the abdication of the Czar, the Civil war and finally exile. Col. G.... had gone through all the stages that brought him from a carefree young man, to an experienced soldier and eventually to a poor refugee in a foreign land. He had however aged gracefully. The rather insolent expression of youth had mellowed into a patrician picture of fine chiselled features, snow white hair and kind eyes which still shone happily when he smiled. I told him my story, he laughed quietly and understandingly. "Lady Fortune is fickle - I am sorry you are broke, but I am happy to see you. You like horses, eh?"

We started talking, I leaning on the old, black desk, he, sitting very straight on the stiff office chair. A grimy combination of bell boy and janitor appeared to take my suitcase. I ordered a bottle of champagne and he stared at me in complete bewilderment. Col. G.... chuckled: "In the thirty odd years of this dump's existence no one has ever ordered champagne here. Gol" - he said to the bell boy, "Try the cabaret down the street, maybe you can get a bottle there for Monsieur."

The Subject of Horses

A few minutes later Col. G. - and myself were sitting at one of the tables of the lobby drinking champagne and talking horses. I told him about horses in America, hunting in Virginia and show jumping. He listened with interest, occasionally interrupting with a remark or a question revealing his great knowledge of horse matters. As he warmed to the subject, he started on his own reminiscences: - his show days and his wonder horse Piccolo, with which he had beaten the world's best. As he talked he lived again the days of International competition, rode again over the multi-colored fences in the arena, felt again the rhythmic harmony of a horse clearing an obstacle, and the elation of triumph.

It was raining outside. Dreary figures shuffled in and out of the hotel, coat collars turned up: commercial travellers, nondescript characters of one kind or another, a girl or two, with and without escorts. All looked on, surprised at the old desk clerk and the American officer, drinking champagne in such a somber setting. Eventually the dirty grey light of a rainy Paris morning filtered through the dust stained windows, the janitor was sloshing a mop about, vaguely going through the motions of cleaning the muddy floor.

"Horses are an addiction, another form of opium or morphine" - Col. G. concluded, draining the last few drops of his glass, "but if I had to do it over again, it is still to horses that I would turn for truly they bring out the best in you, the finest hours of my life were on horseback. However," he went on - "if it were not for a horse, I would not be sitting in this miserable hole each night." Seeing my look of surprise, he explained. "You see, I have a job by day, an easy job. I work from 9 to 5 in an insurance company belonging to the Marquis de X, against whom I used to ride in the good old days. I am a janitor there, and it pays enough for my existance. This night job is for my "addiction". You see, I keep a horse, and if you have nothing better to do this morning, I shall show him to you. Come," he continued, "let me just change, and off we go".

He disappeared into an adjoining room and returned a few minutes later completely transformed: - impeccably tailored coat and breeches, old, but mirror shined boots, a bowler, gloves and riding crop looking very much the picture of a retired, prosperous old colonel.

We hailed a cab and set off through the labyrinth of Paris streets. The city was just awakening, the milkman was making the rounds, late night revellers were coming home, shopkeepers were opening the shutters.

The Horse in the Bois

Somewhere on the edge of the Bois de Boulogne stood the stable which boarded the colonel's horse. As we walked through the door an old groom, evidently a former French trooper, grinned broadly, saluted and said: - "Bonjour Mon Colonel". The owner of the stable, a large fat man bowed ceremoniously: - "Welcome, Mon Colonel, your horse is ready". Evidently Col. G. was as popular here as he had been everywhere else.

The Colonel's horse was brought out. It was not a horse of the caliber he had had in the days of his glory, just a small serviceable bay half-bred of undistinguished origins. The colonel nevertheless, examined his horse with the same meticulous and loving attention that he would have bestowed on a $10,000 Thoroughbred. His practiced hand felt the horse's tendons, glided over the hooves to feel for any heat in the foot, then gently patted the neck. "He is a kind horse" he said. He used the word "kind" somewhat hesitantly, as if looking for some adjective that would give a true and yet positive meaning to a very average mount.

For an hour I watched Col. G. work the horse. The expert horseman was still there, in spite of his age. The smooth transitions of gaits, the forward impulse, the calm, yet bold way of going - all made the horse grow in stature and transform itself from average to superior. Like any good artist Col. G. was drawing the very best from what he had, - the horse seemed to have absorbed a part of his talent and vibrated like a well tuned violin in the hands of a maestro.

Perhaps there was no goal to this schooling of a mediocre horse by an old man: just the esthetic pleasure of good riding; just horsemanship in its purest of forms.

I left the next day for the States. Six years later in Beirut, Lebanon, I learned of the death of Col. G., a horseman and a gentleman.

OTTERHUNTING

Mr. Geoffrey Pring, of Woodlands, 9 Maryfield Avenue, Exeter, England, whose telephone number is Exeter 72355, is the editor of an annual pamphlet "The Year Book of Otterhunting", which gives full particulars as to the Masters and officials of the 15 packs of Otterhounds currently hunting in England and of the 1957-1958 season. It also includes a useful telephone directory which Chronicle readers can put to good advantage if they are travelling in England and wish to get a day with Otterhounds. The book is obtainable from Mr. Pring for the price of 2 shillings.

GESTATION PERIODS

It is generally accepted that the average time for a mare to carry a foal is 333.2 days (for colts 334, for fillies 332.5). The latest treatise on the subject ('Mares, foals and foaling'), says:

"There is a possible variation of 9 1/2 days either way, neither variation being considered abnormal. Extreme cases have been known of normal births 14 days before due time, or three weeks after it. Good feeding leads to shorter pregnancy, poor feeding to longer ones".

Last week I heard of a 22 year-old hunter mare owned by Mr. Foster of Aspatria (Cumberland), carrying a filly foal for 12 months and 10 days. She had only one service to the Thoroughbred stallion Wayland (by Watling Street), so there can be no mistake. This must be almost a record. The mare and filly foal are both fit and well. J. F. B.

DR. LINDALL

Dr. A. L. Lindall of Leesburg, Va., a former member of the Blue Ridge Hunt and Health Director of Frederick, Clarke and Loudoun Counties, has recently resigned this position and is moving to Hawaii. Dr. Lindall's background in both foxhunting and in public health, have been invaluable during the recent epidemic of rabies among grey foxes in Northern Virginia.

HORSE SHOWS

Millwood Hunt

The annual Millwood Hunt horse show held June 14 at Raceland, Framingham Centre, Mass., was more exciting than ever with a record number of entries and a record attendance. Entries in the Junior Classes were exceptionally large with 115 young riders entered in the competition. The expansive grounds of Raceland, the estate of the late John R. Macomber, nationally known sportsman, permitted ample facilities for a large show on the infield of a 1/2 mile race track and steeplechase course. These included an outside course, a stadium jumping course, a junior ring for equitation and children's hunters, and a program ride arena.

Miss Eleanor R. Sears' chestnut mare Reno for the second time won the hunter championship, capturing the William E. Russell Memorial Challenge Trophy for hunter hacks and taking blue ribbons for lightweight hunters and ladies' hunters. Pike's Peak, also owned by Miss Sears, took the reserve championship. Mr. Sparks, owned by Mrs. Richard C. Storey, won the young hunter championship. Sugar Town from Overhead Farm was reserve in this class.

One of the most colorful features of the day was the hunt team competition for the Millwood Challenge Cup. The outstanding performance of the Myopia Hunt Team broke Millwood's winning streak of six years. Riders from Dana Hall School placed first among the junior teams. The Millwood Challenge Trophy to the junior rider with the most points in horsemanship classes at the Dedham and Millwood shows combined went to Jill Morrissey.

A unique highlight of the Millwood show is the working hunter amateur class in which the horses perform first over the outside course, then in a group with the hounds to simulate hunting conditions. The Millwood hounds led by Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr., M.F.H., assisted by two junior whips gave a remarkable demonstration of their excellent training. Winner of the S. Burt Wolbach Memorial Trophy was Showboat, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Grew.

New this year was a class titled Gambler's Choice, with riders given the choice of any eight fences on the stadium course. Each fence had an appropriate numerical value according to its difficulty. The winner was the horse scoring the greatest number of points. Dar-Es-Salaam, full sister to Ksar d'Esprit and Winston on the U. S. Equestrian Team, owned and ridden by Charles A. Collins, Jr., was awarded the blue ribbon.

The combination of brisk winds and bright sunshine, Millwood's superb location, and efficient management made Massachusetts' largest hunter show run entirely by amateurs an outstanding success. Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr., M.F.H., and Mrs. Phillip W. Weir were Co-Chairmen.

Fairfield-Westchester

A bright sunshiny day, cooled by a stiff breeze that brought out sweaters and scarves, made perfect "spectator" weather for the Fairfield-Westchester PHA show. Held on the beautiful Frank Altschul estate, the outside course resembled a golf links and gave the hunters some gently sloping hills and dales over which to show their form. It even provided a rocky perch where Judge Wadsworth could get a good view of all the proceedings.

As usual the children's classes were filled to overflowing and the Child's Hack class, viewed from a little distance, raised enough dust to have been an Indian raid on a wagon train. And speaking of Indians, their counterpart the cowboys, were very much in evidence, as many devotees of the western style of riding came over to see the show. A number of neighborhood children on their own good looking ponies were also interested spectators.

Fairfield County Hunt

Not until Sunday did Fairfield's usual cool, clear weather break through the clouds, drizzle and downpour plaguing Connecticut this summer. But bad weather didn't mar the show for horsemen, beyond putting puddles in front of fences, where some horses looked too long and suspiciously at them, and making life harder for the grooms who had to scrape mud off their charges after each round. On Sunday afternoon a large crowd of spectators gathered on the polo field for the finale of stakes and bonus point classes.

One man certainly found the show and weather to his liking! Harry de Leyer came up for his first show away from Long Island and took both green and open jumper tri-colors. Ringsiders were impressed with the quiet, easy way all his horses went, but the flea-bitten grey Snow Man, a true Cinderella horse, really stole their hearts. Not content with his championship, Snow Man continued his steady, efficient jumping to win the grooms' bareback class held over a modified bonus thrill course.

After a brave start with his usual model win and a blue in open, Peggy Augustus' Waiting Home had to take a back seat to Mrs. A. C. Randolph's Black Atom and Lakelawn's Sun Dial in the conformation division. By placing second over Atom's fourth in the under saddle, Sun Dial managed to tie up their score, but a hack-off went the other way, giving the Black Gang seven-year-old his first championship.

Miss Augustus had her revenge in the working division, as the grey Little Sailor came into his own to sweep up a total of 25 points including wins in the Amateur and Ladies, and become champion over Saxon Woods' consistent Naute Mia.

After two changes of mounts onto each other's stable mates, Star Chamber and Tired, and an additional "strange" horse, Michael Del Balso edged out Wendy Hanson for a Secor sweep of the horsemanship championship. Tired, the former Riviera Royal, was runner-up to Sara Payne's Marianna in the junior division, while another Bonne Nuit, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Busk's Bon Soir, was ridden by Mrs. Busk to the PHA and USET qualifying wins, as well as some good rounds in green jumpers. Karen McIntosh won another PHA Medal, and Barbara Jeffrey her qualifying USET Medal.

Added this year, Arabians drew a good, although local entry, and added color to the show, particularly during the galloping Arab Costume Class. (by) Starberry

Germantown Charity

A competition "that never could happen" happened Friday, June 13, in the final class of the Germantown Charity Horse Show. The crowd had thinned but little when the Knock Down and Out event opened with nine entries to close the evening performance.

Two favorites of long standing with Germantown spectators, Copan with Joan Morgenthau up and Pegasus, with H. R. Belew up, knocked down the first jump. Then came the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth horses to knock down in succession the first jump. The seventh entry, Major T, another Morgenthau entry, cleared the first jump. The crowd roared. As he knocked down the second jump the crowd groaned.

Entry eight joined the ranks of the previous six, knocking down the first jump, U-Know-Fair with H. R. Belew up cleared the first two jumps to become the winner.

Thirty riders to 17 years of age competed in Equitation over jumps. The switch to hunter seat is increasingly apparent. Thirty-six entries were in the Pleasure Horse class, the majority being hunters and pony clubbers.

The final performance of this 11th Annual event was viewed by more than 4500. It was sponsored by the Memphis and Shelby County Tennessee Union of the King's Daughters for the Benefit of the Home for Incurables at Memphis. Specs

Eugene

The Eugene Horse Show has long been a favorite of mine and so it is with regret that I must say that the hunter and jumper classes this year left much to be desired. This opinion was not mine alone but was echoed by the many exhibitors I spoke with. That old Bug-A-Boo of Oregon shows - poorly designed courses - was again at fault. Many horses could not complete their rounds and in one instance over 50% of the class were eliminated with horses having front crashers and refusals making up the majority of the places.

Phar Rhona, the consistently good going grey mare belonging to Mrs. Harry Samuels, was Hunter Champion with the Reserve spot going to Mr. Rudy Gross's Winit. Both horses were skillfully ridden by their trainer, Mr. G. E. (Jerry) Smith, who seems to manage wins over good or bad courses wherever he goes.

The Jumper Championship was carried off by Miss Vicki Purcell, another veteran rider on her mare Shamrock, (Oregon Jumper Champion for two years).

Bayview Farm

Rained out on May 3rd, the Bayview Farm Horse Show enjoyed perfect weather on June 7th for the show held in aid of the Canadian Cancer Fund.

Very good courses were provided in the ring for jumpers and a most attractive outside course for hunters was set up on Gordon Hammonds Bayview Farm, Thornhill, Ontario.

The jumpers were good. Their number was not as great as at some shows but the clairier was high even without the ABC Farm's Velvet horses. E. H. Coad's horses, Bleu Beau and Beau Blue, which were absent from the Toronto Horse Show the week before, were in good form and Bleu Beau won the Jumper Championship over Gordon Hammonds Little Brown Jug which has been performing brilliantly this spring for Jim Elder.

Jumper events were the main attraction with no conformation classes. The working hunter class was won by O. D. Robinson's Kandaragh who gave Lee Ledson a very smooth round. Melvin Stone won the Green Working Hunter with his good black mare Indiscision.

Galt

The Civic Service Club of Galt, Ontario, Canada, through courtesy and consideration to exhibitors have made their annual spring horse show one of the most important outdoor shows in eastern Canada. The year the all division show extended its jammed program to three days and enjoyed good patronage despite unseasonable chilly weather.

There was uniformly stiff competition, especially in the jumper division, where the ABC Farm horses from Brampton, Ontario, ruled supreme winning the championship with Brown Velvet and the reserve with Black Velvet, the latter, for a number of years one of the foremost contenders in the jumper ranks in Canada.

Conformation hunter champion was Copperohn, an Irish import which turned in some brilliant smooth rounds for owner rider J. C. Cakebread. Reserve also went to an imported horse - this one from Scotland in Pepper Knowes owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Nelson Smith and ridden by Brian Herbinson.

THE CHRONICLE

The conformation division was almost a clean sweep for The Duke of Paeonian belonging to Mr. John Pettibone. Reserve was very close between Avon Girl and Mrs. Sallie Sexton's Eden Roc, but the former was Reserve by 1/2 a point.

Working hunters were very plentiful, as usual. Again Miss Ratliff and Little Sombrero came through for the championship over Si Jayne's Apt Pupil.

The Green divisions were well filled too, especially the green working. Waverly Farm's Garden of Eden monopolized the green conformation division, with reserve going to Monopolist, belonging to Sallie Sexton. Bob Egan's good grey, Blue Monday was champion green working.

The jumper division was very close on points for reserve, but Si Jayne's Cinderella was way ahead for the championship. The grand old horse of Johnny Wallace's, Mountain Breeze, and Blaney GRUMBLE JONES, with owner Dinetia McCormick up, won the hunter championship at the Germantown (Tenn.) Charity Horse Show.

Grosse Pointe

Grosse Pointe held its annual Horse Show, 47th., to be exact, under the most ideal weather conditions that Michiganders can remember in a long time. It threatened rain, and did rain some during the early part of the show, but most of the time it was cool and delightful riding weather. The classes were well filled, with more jumpers and conformation horses than I have seen in several years. This show was very well run and I know everyone enjoyed showing there.

The first day was devoted mostly to Juniors. Two young ladies that have never showed in Michigan before walked off with the Junior Hunter awards. Miss Laurie Ratliff from Louisiana with her good horse Little Sombrero was champion and reserve went to Linda Swanson of Glenview, Ill. with her good mare Avon Girl. The horsemanship championship was taken by Victoria Buchen from Grand Rapids.

South Shore

After four week ends of rain at the previous shows this show, with its beautiful setting on the shores of Lake Michigan, beat the jinx. The weather was delightful, the spacious ring gaily decorated, the sunshine and soft breezes blowing from the lake made you soon forget the adverse conditions of the young season.

Checkmate owned by George W. Jayne and ably ridden by his wife dominated the Hunter division placing in all classes winning two including the Stake and won the Championship going away.

Miss Alison Rogers of Winnetka and her new and I might add sensational open jumper, Sun Glow, were jumper champions winning two including the difficult stake class with a clean round.

U. S. Pony Clubs Eastern Pennsylvania Regional Rally

The Eastern Pennsylvania Regional Rally of The United States Pony Club was held Wednesday, June 18th, and Thursday, June 19th at the Reading Country Club Riding Stables in Reading, Penna.

In addition to the host club, Berks Pony Club, there were four other clubs competing in the three phase event. Pickering Hunt Pony Club, Radnor Hunt Pony Club, Rose Tree Pony Club and Somerset Hills Pony Club.

For the first time in an Eastern Pennsylvania Rally there were four divisions of riders. Two B teams, four C-3 teams, four C-1, and three D teams making a total of 50 riders and 13 helpers.

Tent stalls had been erected at the riding ring. Tuesday afternoon before the rally the vans moved in and the children set about the task of bedding down their mounts and arranging their tack rooms. By four o'clock, their jobs fairly well under control, under the direction of Mr. Martin Neff the riders walked the outside course of three and one-half miles and twenty fences to familiarize themselves with the terrain.

Then back to their various motels, all within a four mile radius of their stabling, for a good night's sleep in preparation for the rally.

Wednesday morning the Dressage started at 8:30 A.M. promptly, with Mrs. George Jacobsen of Quebec, Canada, as judge. With 50 riders to do the Z test this took until about 2:00, so lunch was eaten in shifts and the D riders who had started the Dressage were off on their Cross Country before the B riders were through in the ring. This morning that had been so bright and clear turned dark and rainy for about two hours and fence judges for the Cross Country went out on the course equipped with raincoats and umbrellas. But by the time they came in with their score cards, they had shed their rain apparel and so most of the course was ridden in fair weather.

Thursday morning after breakfast, the C-1, C-3, and B teams took their written examination on Veterinary, Horse Care, and Fox Hunting. The D riders went down to the ring and were quizzed orally by Mrs. Howard C. Fair, the regional supervisor.

After the examinations, the Stable Management Judge, Mrs. Howard Fair, Unionville, Pa., who had been judging the second day calls to quiz the teams on grooming. Miss Patti Grace of Unionville judged stable management the first day.

Warm and sunny at one o'clock, the stadium jumping course for D's, there was an obstacle course that simulated a jumping course. Then the jump crew set up the course for the others with the jumps at 2'9", for C-1's, 3'3" for C-3's, and 3'6" for the B riders. The judges for this phase were Edward and Ronald Houghton, Newtown Square, Pa. There was a large audience that afternoon and the free lemonade and iced tea that had been served to all Pony Club members for the two days was very popular.

By four-thirty all the scores had been tabulated by Miss Diane MacDonald, Malvern, Pa., who was the head score keeper and the results were out. With three teams entered, D, C-1, and C-3 Berks was victorious in all divisions. With Radnor and Somerset Hills competing in the B division, Radnor was the conqueror. The rally was a great success and the scores were close all the way.

Col. Bassett commented on the high quality of entries which he considered quite up to the class of ponies to be seen at shows in Wales. Interest in breeding Welsh Ponies has soared in Canada and important shows are following the trend by offering classes for Welsh this year. Sutton Horse Show has announced it will introduce a small division for Welsh at its show in early August. The Canadian National Exhibition in late August and the Royal Winter Fair in November have included Welsh divisions in their breeding catalogues and the Welsh Pony and Cob Society of Britain will present a trophy for the champion at the Royal. Broadview

Foxhollow School

The 19th Annual Foxhollow School Horse Show, held June 13th, seemed to be enjoyed by exhibitors and spectators, despite the afternoon downpour of rain. The newest change in this year's show was the new outside course, which gave new interest and variety to the hunter classes.

Ellen Corning repeated her championship win from last year but she had very strong competition in the Championship Class from Judy Johnson and Betsy Long. The judges finally chose Betsy Long as the Reserve Champion rider.

Jackie Harris, a Foxhollow rider, took her share of the ribbons with her own nice mare, Jung Frau. She won the Working Hunters and Bridle Path hacks classes and formed half of the winning pair in the Working Hunter Pair Class.

PONY DIRECTORY

Regional

Rallies

In response to a request from the Editors of the Westchester County Pony Club News Letter published at Sunnyfield Farm, Bedford Village, N. Y., the following message has been received from Howard C. Fair, President of the United States Pony Clubs, Inc.

"We were very interested to receive your nice letter about the Westchester Pony Club News Letter, and asking me to state in brief what we consider to be the purpose of the Regional Rallies.

"It has always seemed to me that the purpose of the Regional Rallies is three-fold. One, to bring out the rounded aspect of Pony Club training, so that all five phases of Pony Club activities show up as equally important. In other words, a member who does not shine at dressage may be brilliant at Cross Country; and equally a rider who may not be particularly strong, will shine at stable management, which is at the base of all Pony Club work.

"Two. The importance of team spirit rather than individual achievement is also emphasized at Regional Rallies.

"Three. Good sportsmanship and companionship is one of the great benefits to be derived from the Regional Rallies, which bring Pony Clubs together in free competition.

"Very best regards to everyone in the Westchester County Pony Club, and the best of luck with your Rally."

THE CHRONICLE

Meadowbrook Junior

Cookie Emlen's Goblin certainly deserved consistency honors here. The big lanky bay, who literally "gobbles" up ground with his long stride, placed in practically every class in which he was shown. Hot Chocolate, Janice Ballard's already established "iron horse" was close behind Goblin for reserve.

One of the nicest handy performances this correspondent has witnessed was put on by young Carole Heller on her Bay Lady. No glamorized show horse, this smart pony clearly demonstrated the type of handiness gleaned only in the hunting field.

Southwest Intra-Circuit 12 Goal Polo Tournament

Capt. John M. Eaton

After a series of exhibition games the tournament was under way with the first game between the Dallas, Texas Athletic Club and the Paso Del Norte Polo Club from Juarez, Mexico and El Paso, Texas.

This game was played on the second of May. The Dallas Athletic Club team made a very good accounting of themselves but lost the exciting game in an overtime period, 6 to 5. Jaime Bermudez made a tally for the Paso Del Norte club the first throw-in followed by one by Barry Beal for Dallas towards the end of the chukker.

Humberto Bermudez started his scor-

Dallas Club.

The sixth chukker was a real thriller and a battle to the end with Humberto Bermudez showing his real skill by scoring two long goals while Bill Wayman put two through for Dallas to make the score five-all. Louis Ramos suffered a hard fall this period but played on after gaining his wind.

The overtime period was the same scrappy game, but over in one minute with a long goal by Humberto Bermudez to win the game for Paso Del Norte, 6 to 5. Paso Del Norte Dallas Athletic Club ing with a goal midway in the second followed by one for Dallas put through by Bill Wayman.

The third chukker was a scoreless battle from one goal to the other, marred by a hard fall by Bill Wayman. He was up and played on in a few minutes however.

Humberto Bermudez made a lone goal from the 50 yard line for his second in the game while holding the Dallas Club scoreless again.

In the fifth the tables were turned and Louis Ramos made a long shot from the side boards to count the lone score for the Final game Southwest Intra-Circuit 12 goal polo tournament: May 11, 1958. After a busy two weeks of hard playing the San Antonio Polo Club finished the Southwest Intra-Circuit Tournament in grand style by defeating the fast, hard riding Paso Del Norte Polo Club, 8 to 5, to clinch the Southwest title for the second consecutive season.

The hard fought game had a very fast start with Oscar Bermudez carrying the ball through for two goals for Paso Del Norte in the first two minutes, but Roy Barry, Jr., evened the goals by putting a very long, difficult angle shot through the uprights before the chukker was half over, then converted a 60 yard penalty shot for a goal with a minute of play left.

With the second chukker the San Antonio Club began to get the situation in hand holding the Paso Del Norte team scoreless while Tom Crea converted a pass from Tom Hasteley for a goal.

The third was a hard fought chukker, and as consistent throughout this fast game, none was able to slip his opponent to get a run for the goal posts. E. V. Higgins was able to convert from a melee at the thirty yard line for Paso Del Norte's third goal.

In the fourth chukker the San Antonio Club showed they didn't need their two goal handicap advantage as Roy Barry, Jr., displayed his consistently fine stick work and long accurate hitting to bring the ball from the opponents goal to his 65 yard line and split the uprights with a beautiful shot. On the next throw-in, after the ball had changed hands twice, Tom Hasteley received a back hand pass from San Antonio's stalwart goal defender, Jack Crea and rode off two Paso Del Norte players while he carried the ball to his 50 yard line to make a spectacular goal. Roy Barry, Jr., had a heart breaker next when he made a long shot from the side boards only to have the ball hit a goal post and balance for a second then to roll out. A minute before the bell rang Tom Crea took a pass from Roy Barry, Jr., along the side boards and ran it through the opposing team for the third tally of the chukker and to make the score 8 to 3 for the San Antonians. Jack Crea returned every start to the goal the Paso Del Norte team could muster during this period. The only mishap of the game occurred midway in this chukker when Humberto Bermudez and his horse went down in a turn at mid-field, but both were up at once and played on.

The fifth was mainly a defensive chukker for the San Antonio Club and several well organized drives for goal were broken up by Jack Crea and his teammates. Oscar Bermudez made a very good shot to goal would be expert advice on correct feeding and exercising of the horse not intended for extensive showing or even hunting (my own horse is a Thoroughbred hunter now used only for hacking). There must be many owners like myself whose horses cannot be kept in the tip-top condition outlined in most books available on the subject, due to scarcity of time, but who want their mounts in the best condition possible for the work they do have to do.

Meticortelone

Dear Sir:

I read with concern the article on "Meticortelone" in June 27th's "The Clubhouse Turn". I can't conceive who could have released this information to you. (Editor's Note - The Schering Corporation). This symposium was held on November 29 and 30, 1956, at which time I reported on clinical use of *Meticortelone in the common lamenesses encountered in equine practice.

The Schering Corporation was good enough to furnish me with their product for clinical investigation; and after approximately one year the results of the use of this product on seventeen cases of navicular disease, ten cases of 'sidebone', four cases of ring-bone, eight cases of carpis, two cases of shoulder lameness, six cases of stifle lameness, and eleven cases of laminitis were reported. Emphasis was placed on technique of injection, and the fact that this product WAS NOT a cure-all.

The use of *Meticortelone proved successful in many cases by relieving the symptoms and giving the horse relief from pain and lameness. The relief, when achieved, lasted variable lengths of time. For example in navicular disease 13 out of 17 horses showed improvement in from 24 to 72 hours. Several remained sound for seven months or more, others had to receive further treatment in eight to twelve weeks. The use in stifle lameness and in bursal enlargement of the hock joint proved to be the most satisfactory of all conditions treated.

Rather than rehashing the paper I presented at this symposium, I would like to repeat a statement I made at the time, "Heretofore lameness has been treated by rest, blistering, firing, neurectomy and euthanasia. In my limited experience *Meticortelone offers to the horse practitioner a SUBSTANTIAL STOP-GAP in this retrogressive process."

As in the case of every new drug after several years of constant use it finally arrives at its niche in medical practice. Since 1956 I have used this product on hundreds of cases of lameness, and the greater experience gained in its use make us more selective of the type lameness it is to be used on.

Being a devoted reader for many years of "The Chronicle" I did not want an article attributed to me to lead your readers to a faulty conclusion. The only other correction is that I left my position with the New Jersey Racing Commission after the 1946 season. I have since been engaged in the general practice of equine medicine with the greatest emphasis on Thoroughbred breeding and hunters.

Thank you for your co-operation and understanding; would that we had a cure for these crippling diseases of our good horses.

Very sincerely yours,
Dr. Harold M.S. Smith
Hanover, N. J.

from the 50 yard line on a nice pass play from his brother, Humberto, to make him high goal man for the team from the Rio Grande.

In the sixth, Humberto Bermudez managed to get free to make one of his famous long hits and put one through from sixty-five yards to make the final score 8 to 5.

A large crowd saw the game played in Brackenridge park and the comments from several of the nation's professional players who watched the game were to the effect that they had never seen a better 12 goal polo game. The trophy presentation was made by Mrs. Claude Barry of El Paso.

BOOK REVIEWS

ARRIAN'S CYNEGETICUS OR THE BOOK OF THE CHASE BY "XENOPHON OF ATHENS, THE SECOND", FLAVIUS ARRIANUS OF NICOMEDIA, TRANSLATED AND ILLUSTRATED BY DENISON B.

HULL, PRIVATELY PRINTED, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, 1958, pp 46.

It is unusual in these days to find an active Master of Foxhounds who is also an accomplished Greek scholar. These two qualities being united in Denison B. Hull, ex-M.F.H. of the Fox River Valley Hunt and Executive Trustee of the Hunt Servants Benefit Foundation, have born fruit in translations from the Greek which he has made and published of the treatises on horses and hounds by Xenophon of Athens and by the present translation of Arrian who lived some 500 years after Xenophon and professedly began where his predecessor had left off. Flavius Arrianus of Nicomedia was a Greek and a contemporary of Marcus Aurelius. He is best known for his account of the conquests of Alexander the Great and for his notes on the lectures of Epictetus. In the five centuries that had elapsed since Xenophon's book was written, a new breed of hounds, namely the Celtic, had been developed which Arrian considered vastly superior to earlier strains and whose abilities consequently changed the pattern of hare hunting to a great extent. He describes the hunting methods of the Celts and includes much interesting information about the feeding, care and entering of hounds.

Mr. Hull's illustrations are, as always, most amusing. He typed the text of the book on his own typewriter, illustrations and text being reproduced by photolithography. For the sake of the record it must be noted that Mr. Hull is a far better artist and translator than he is a typist. The book is a delightful addition to the bibliography in English of the history of sport.

THE BLOODSTOCK BREEDERS REVIEW. VOL. XLVI, LONDON, THE BRITISH BLOODSTOCK AGENCY, 1957, pp. 888, ILLUS., 4 GUINEAS.

Although we have a number of indispensable Thoroughbred annuals in this country, notably The Triangle Publications' "Racing Manual" and the Annual Statistical Edition of "The Thoroughbred Record", there is only one annual which covers the Thoroughbred on a world wide basis. This is "The Bloodstock Breeders Review", now in its 46th year, published by The British Bloodstock Agency, Ltd., of 26, Charing Cross Road, London, W.C. 2. Full sets of this publication are among the most prized possessions of the major turf libraries.

For a period following World War II, the publication of the B.B.R. was subject to a number of delays which, it must be said in no way detracted from the quality of the text. In the last few years, however, it has been appearing earlier each year. The 1957 edition, under the editorship of The Chronicle's British Turf correspondent, Major Peter Towers-Clark, has not only appeared relatively most promptly for a work of this magnitude, but is by far the largest volume yet issued. It includes a "Register of Studs in Great Britain and Ireland," which is a new feature. In addition to the statistical section on the racing season of 1957 under Jockey Club and Irish Turf Club rules taken from "The Statistical Abstract" by courtesy of the Thoroughbred Breeders Association, there are reviews of racing in every quarter of the globe - England, the Continent, Russia, North, Central and South America, Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. There is a special section by Eric Rickman, "Memorative Biographies," which includes the Aga Khan, Frank Butters, Basil Jarvis, Lady Wentworth and others. Kasimir Bobinski

HIRSCH JACOBS, 11 times the country's leading trainer, says:

"Absorbine helps Joe Jones keep fit and ready to run."

"To finish consistently in the money," says Mr. Jacobs, "a horse must be kept in top running form all season long. This isn't an easy job, and that's why I count so much on Absorbine care to help stop trouble before it starts. You can't beat Absorbine as an all 'round leg wash, brace and cooler."

Since 1892, Absorbine has been a byword in stables where the conditioning and care of horses is a first consideration. It does not blister the skin or remove hair. A large bottle with complete instructions costs only $2.50 at any druggist.

U. S. Jumping Team Takes Four First Places at Aachen

Bill Bryan

The U. S. Equestrian Team unlimbered its big guns at Aachen June 27-July 6, as it made its first official appearance on the current invasion of Europe. The team, believed by many observers to be potentially one of the best this country has fielded for several years, lived up to its advance notices and gave promise of future triumphs.

Facing the cream of the horses and riders of 12 nations, Bert de Nemethy's squad scored impressively throughout the ten-day European Championship show. Four first places were taken by the U.S. as team captain Bill Steinkraus scored a double win with First Boy, turning back a field of 91 entries in the Philips Preis on July 1, and then celebrating the Fourth with another victory as he topped a field of 63. The Philips Preis, a take-your-own-line time class, saw the U.S.E.T. riders make a bold bid as Hugh Wiley finished fifth aboard Master William, Frank Chapot was eighth on Diamant and George Morris 11th on Sinjon.

Other U.S. victories came as Wiley rode the redoubtable Nautical to a three-way tie for first in the Puissance, third event of the European Championship competition. Wiley and the flashy palomino finished in a faultless deadlock with England's Wilf White on Nizefella and Italy's Piero D'Inzeo aboard The Rock. The final U.S.E.T. win also came on Independence Day when Morris, youngest member of the team, rode his mare, War Bride, to victory over a 14-jump course. Chapot was 6th in the event on Sinbad.

Both Steinkraus and Wiley were top contenders throughout the four-event European Championship competition. In the opening class, a time event, Steinkraus was third on Ksar d'Esprit behind Germany's Fritz Thiedemann riding Meteor and Spain's Goyagoa on Fahnenkoenig. Wiley finished 15th in this event with Nautical. The second phase of the title race saw Wiley ride Nautical to 4th place as Piero D'Inzeo won with The Rock. Thiedemann was 2nd with Hans Winkler 3rd on Halla. Steinkraus finished 8th, in the Table C time event.

The Puissance, 3rd of the championship classes was marked by Wiley's win, with Steinkraus tied for 7th. The final event, was the Prize of Nations, with each rider making two rounds. Steinkraus finished 7th on both rounds while Wiley, unplaced in the first, was eighth in the second. The final championship standings kept the title in Germany as Fritz Thiedemann took the crown from his teammate, Winkler. Winkler finished third as second place went to Piero D'Inzeo. Captain Netterquist of Sweden, ended in fourth place with Steinkraus fifth and Wiley 6th.

Second In Prix des Nations

Perhaps the highlight of the U. S. effort came on July 5th when the four riders turned in one of their finest performances to haul down second place in the Prix des Nations. With the teams of 12 nations entered, the U.S. contingent found itself in a three-way jumpoff for first place, facing the favored Germans and the Spaniards. Spain's Major Espinosa de los Monteros clinched the event for his team as he turned in two clean rounds aboard Mister B and Frantillack. His teammates, Goyagoa on Toscanella and Figueroa on Bruletrout, had four faults each. A flawless ride by Steinkraus on Ksar d'Esprit paced the U.S. to the second place as Morris on Night Owl and Wiley on Nautical had four each. Chapot, riding Diamant, had eight faults. The German team of Winkler on Fahnenkoenig, Thiedemann on Meteor, Peter Stackfleth on Frechdachs and Herman Schridde on Fugosa, had 28 faults to finish 3rd.

In the other team class, the relay jumping, the U.S.E.T. represented by Steinkraus, Chapot and Morris, ended in fourth place as Germany won with Italy's two teams finishing 2nd and 3rd.

Other outstanding efforts by the U.S. riders and Mounts included a second place taken down by Chapot aboard Sinbad as the pair followed Germany's Anna Clement and Nico in leading a field of 105 entries. Another event saw Morris ride Night Owl to a third place tie with Thiedemann as the pair had four faults on the 4th jumpoff. The event was won by Raimundo D'Inzeo, with his brother, Piero, finishing second.

Riviera Wonder, one of the team horses making his first start in international competition, had three clean rounds in his three appearances, including a seventh place in a field of 105 entries. In all, the U.S. team garnered 30 placings.

U. S. Jumping Team A German Viewpoint

(Editor's Note: - The following appears in the June issue of the German horse monthly "Die Peitsche", and was written by the editor, Max Boden, who visited this country in April).

I saw many things of interest to a horseman in America. Mr. Whitney Stone, the President of the U.S. Equestrian Team, invited us to the final inspection of the riders and horses, before they left for Europe. The Team has in the meantime been quartered at Aachen. Just as two years ago at Aachen, one is greatly impressed by the uniform style of all the riders, their flexible seat and their complete harmony with the horses. However it seems to me that they are riding somewhat more actively and with more energy than two years ago. Everything points to a forward drive (the very words used at Aachen two years before), which is in the excellent style of our former Cavalry School, used in Germany at this time probably only by Frau Koehler in its entirety. Bert von Nemethy has worked to achieve a success which can only be described as enviable.

The strongest member of the Team is still W. Steinkraus. He rides First Boy.

IRISH SUCCESSES

Columnist Michael O'Hehir points out that since late last year Irish horses have won the English Cambridgeshire (Stephanotis), St. Leger (Ballymoss), this year's Grand National (Mr. What), eight races at Cheltenham, the Epsom Derby (Hard Ridden), Coronation Cup (Ballymoss), Ascot Gold Cup (Gladness) and Gold Vase (Even Money). *Cavan (Belmont) is doing all right in this country too.

JOCKEY RESTAURATEURS

It must be because most jockeys are always hungry, trying to keep their weight down, that so many of them have gone into the restaurant business on the side - Arcaro, Meade, Neves and Erb among others.

CHASE AND FLAT TRAINER

One of the most versatile trainers in the world today is Vincent O'Brien of Ireland, who is equally at home training jumpers and flat horses. From his stable have come the winners of three Liverpool Grand Nationals in a row, the Irish Grand National, four Cheltenham Gold Cups, and three Champion Hurdles, while on the flat his horses have won two Irish Derbys, the English St. Leger, Coronation Cup, Ascot Gold Cup and Gold Vase.

German View Point

which we know from Aachen; Riviera Wonder successful in many battles on the American continent; and Ksar d'Esprit, who in contrast to the blood horses already mentioned, is a powerful charger type and an equally powerful jumper, who approaches his fences with deceptive calmness. He should prove a redoubtable competitor, particularly over a big course. Hugh Wiley, also previously known to us, this time is riding Master William, and George Morris is on Night Owl, both previously ridden by Steinkraus - in addition to several prospects. Frank Chapot is riding, beside a few prospects, Diamant, whom Fritz Thiedemann left in the USA a while ago. Both make a good impression. Diamant looks round and smooth like his countryman Meteor, while heights seem to trouble one as little as the other.

hoped he would. The gelding's margin was 2 1/2 lengths. Inside Out was second, Seven Corners, third and Jennie's Joy, fourth. Easy Spur (Crowfoot-Easy Reeling, by Easy Mon) was ridden by Steve Brooks.

The victory was worth $9,250 which gives Spring Hill Farm's colt $40,941 total earnings. He has won 4 races and been second once (in the Tyro) in 5 starts.

He won the Cherry Hill at Garden State in May.

P. L. Kelley trains Easy Spur. James D. Norris, master of Spring Hill Farm, bred him.

Narragansett Park

T. A. Caulk's Battle Neck scored a two-length win over Gleeman in the Independence Day Stakes at Narragansett, on, appropriately enough, Independence Day. Dreamers who backed the three-year-old colt stepped into Elysium when the numbers went up. The payoff was $123.80. The race is at one mile and 70 yards.

Balmacara finished third and Mike Barry, fourth. Staysail, the 6-to-5 favorite, was forced to take up on the backstretch and never threatened. He finished seventh.

Battle Neck, a chestnut colt by Battle Morn, from the Espino mare, Little Neck, was ridden by P. L. Grimm. He is trained and was bred by his owner.

Coloneast, a 29-to-1 shot took first prize in Narragansett's King Philip Handicap, July 5. Admiral Vee, the even-money choice, was second, Besomer was third and Park Dandy, fourth.

The race was worth $10,613.50. Mr. Smith bred the son of Colony Boy-East Is East, by *Easton. M. J. Bresnahan, Jr., trains him. C. Hooper was up for the King Phillip.

Hollywood Park

G. C. Newell's How Now registered in the American Handicap at Hollywood Park on July 4. Seaneen was second, Eddie Schmidt third and Mystic Eye fourth. The favored Llangollen entry of Portershouse and Social Climber was unplaced. The horses finished fifth and sixth.

How Now, a five-year-old gelding by Beau Max, from But Why Not, by Blue Larkspur, won by 1 1/4 lengths. His owner collected $31,150.

C. Jolly trains How Now. W. Harmatz was up for the American.

King Ranch bred How Now.

Short Takes of Late Stakes

The Hollywood Lassie Stakes, July 1, was won by Khalita.

Correction - Sort Of

The caption at the head of this department last week stated "Cavan Breaks Down Winning Leonard Richards Stakes." This might be an exaggeration. When the race was over *Cavan limped badly and some thought he was sorely injured. People were talking of cracked sesamoid bones, etc.

Trainer Tommy Barry declared later that the injury was slight.

Length of a Length

If you were asked the average length of a fully grown Thoroughbred horse what would your answer be? I fancy you would be stumped. What's more you wouldn't find the information in any book of reference. I looked up all the standard equine works after Major L. Petch, M. F. H., clerk of the course at Redcar, York and Catterick, had put the question to me and had said he could gain no help from the equine anatomical experts' publications. They have plenty to say about tinuing to grow up to at least 5 years, a fairly accurate average would be 9 ft.

The Redcar innovation was the result of Mr. Phil Bull's speech at the last Gimcrack Dinner when he described the distances between 1, 2, & 3 as given by judges as often misleading to handicappers and public. So much appreciated was the guide provided for officials and spectators alike on Redcar course that it is probable the system of lengths indication will be adopted by most other race executives.

JUMP FAVORITES AT DELAWARE

Favorites over the jumps at Delaware Park's just closed steeplechasing phase of its meeting won 60 percent of the time to help pile up a mutuel handle of $903, 570 on the jumpers. Favorites among flat racers for the same period finished first only 33 percent of the time, track officials stated today.

Total wagers placed on the jumpers during the June meeting at Delaware Park were off five percent compared height and over measurements, but the rare reference to length give no statistics, and most of them speak only of the length measurements from breast (or point of shoulder) to a point below the set-on of the tail.

At the first meeting on Redcar course this season Maj Petch introduced, for the first time on any racecourse, ten circular numbered discs (No. 1, 9 ft. from the winning-post), so that the judge and public may accurately gauge the distances at the finish between the leading horses. As stated these discs are 9 ft. apart, and to decide what a length should be Maj Petch measured a Thoroughbred in his hunt stables and found that, from the tip of the nose to the set on of the tail, it was 9 ft. 1 1/2 ins. He thought that in view of many younger horses continued to grow up to at least 5 years, a fairly accurate average would be 9 ft. The maintenance of strong betting interest on the jumpers is expected to continue at the hurdle racing events at Monmouth Park, Oceanport, N. J.

Tommy Walsh, 18, ended the Delaware Park meeting with a total of 17 wins, including those earned at Belmont Park and earlier hunt meets. A. P. "Paddy" Smithwick was second with 11 victories for 1958 thus far, with 10 of these chalked up at Belmont and Delaware. Last season, Smithwick, 31, brother of D. M. "Mike" Smithwick, noted trainer, ended 1957 on top of the jumping jockey roster. Tommy Walsh, nephew of M. G. "Mickey" Walsh, prominent trainer, tied with Jimmy Murphy for third place honors last year.

RESIGNS

Paul Mellon has resigned as Joint-Master of the Piedmont Fox Hounds, Upperville, Va. The pressure of business commitments, which would necessitate his absence on many occasions, compelled Mr. Mellon to take this step. He has been Joint-Master with Mrs. A. C. Randolph since 1954. Mrs. Randolph was elected Master at a business meeting of the Piedmont Fox Hounds, following Mr. Mellon's resignation.

COLONEL JACK MANSFIELD

We have just received word of the death of Colonel Jack Mansfield, of Taunton, Mass., on April 27, 1958, one of New England's best known judges of foxhounds and beagles. During the 1930's he successfully crossed Walker Hounds with the Fell Hound strains of the English College Valley Pack.

SPECTATOR JUDGING

Victor J. Tantalo, of Hartford, Conn., is the author of an excellent 4-page leaflet to help horse show spectators follow the judging of the classes, which is entitled "Judging Horses Made Easy for the Spectator". The leaflet is designed as a giveaway to horse show spectators or to be included with horse show programs. So far the shows which have adopted the leaflet include the Ox Ridge Hunt Club, Santa Barbara National, Children's Services, the P. H. A. Stamford, Conn., Horse Guard, Sands Point and Suffield Shows.

MICHAEL PAGE

Michael Page, of White Plains, N. Y., now studying at the Cavalry School at Saumur in France, as the result of numerous placings in regional Three-Day Events in that country this season, has been invited to participate in the National French Three-Day Championships at Fontainebleau next October. He will continue his equestrian training in France and in Germany until next year.

PROGRAM BY KELLEY

Bob Kelley who handles publicity for the New York Racing Association put on a show at Belmont the day of the Roseben which is what racing can use more of.

As you know, the TV broadcast of a race has half an hour on the air. The race, in this case 7 furlongs, took less than two minutes, so there was a lot of fill-in time to be used up. Usually it is filled with an interview and some ads and then several repetitions of which horse is which. In connection with the Roseben, Mr. Kelley worked out with CBS a deal whereby the announcer interviewed the stewards in the stewards' stand. He asked them several questions about what they do and about racing in general.

I didn't see how it came over TV since I was standing outside the stewards' stand watching it from the other end. What I heard was very interesting and it is the sort of thing that is good for racing. It showed three distinguished gentlemen, Messrs. Francis Dunne, Harold Vosburgh, and Calvin Rainey in their natural habitat at work. They explained what they do and their function in racing. Things like this ought to go a long way toward showing the non-racing public not only the quality of the people who run racing but it showed the public just one of the many aspects of the meticulous care which is taken to govern the sport.

Not only the New York Racing Association, but racing in general owes Mr. Kelley a bow for this one. R. J. Clark

BRITISH HUNTER BREEDING

Spurred on by the remarks of Colonel Harry Llewellyn in "The Show Jumping Year, 1957", calling attention to the decline in the breeding of middle- and heavy-weight hunters in Britain, the editor of "The Field" suggests that the Hunters' Improvement and National Light Horse Breeding Society offer additional premiums for broodmares suitable to produce this class of horse, and perhaps try to create a breed with its own stud book to be called "The British Hunter".

GOLDENS BRIDGE SHOWS

Victor J. Tantalo, of Harford, Conn., has been named manager of the Goldens Bridge Hounds Colt and Young Hunter Show to be held August 31st at the Tilly Foster Stock Farm, Tilly Foster, N. Y. He will also manage the Goldens Bridge Junior Hunter Trials to be held September 6th at Galway Stables, North Salem, N. Y. and the Goldens Bridge Hunter Pace Event to be held October 26th.

ANOTHER HORSEWOMAN

Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Jonathan R. Burton are receiving congratulations on the birth, June 5th, of a daughter Judith G. Burton. Col. Burton, now stationed in Hawaii, recently judged the Pebble Beach, California Three-Day Event. He was a member of the 1956 U. S. Equestrian Three-Day Event Team.

Chronicle Cover

There was little difficulty attached this year to the selection of the horse to be honored by appearing on the cover of the 1958 Keeneland Summer Sale's catalogue. Hip #356 in the 1956 Keeneland Summer Sale was a bay filly by *Royal Charger out of Tige O'Myheart by Bull Lea and was consigned by famed breeder Leslie Combs II. Auctioneer Swinebroad sold this filly to Mrs. Charles U. Bay for $63,000, a new national record for a yearling filly sold at public auction. Under the expert tutelage of Sherrill Ward, this filly, named Idun, became the champion two-year-old filly of 1957 by a wide margin and amassed earnings of $220,955 by winning eight races from eight starts. The Breeders' Sales Company of Lexington, Ky., is very proud of the filly, her owner, trainer and breeder.

The Chronicle is very pleased to reproduce on its cover the picture of Idun as it appears on the jacket of the Breeders' Sales Company's catalogue.

weather forecast might be helpful in estimating the number in attendance on the first day of this coming season.

Entries should be mailed to this newspaper marked "Saratoga Attendance Contest," and none postmarked later than midnight, July 30, will be accepted. When the official attendance figures for the opening day are announced, the winner will be notified, and the day he, or she chooses for acceptance of an afternoon at the track on the house will be arranged.

AMERICAN OAKS

The Coaching Club American Oaks, this country's counterpart of the Epsom Oaks in England, was inaugurated in 1916 when the Coaching Club presented the Richard Singleton Cup, first offered at the Charleston, South Carolina Jockey Club Meeting in 1820 and August Belmont framed the conditions to emulate the British feature. HORSE QUARANTINE

In an interview with columnist Joe Hirsch, Murray Friedlaender of Baltimore, who makes a habit of importing French-bred horses to this country, suggests that the blood test to make sure that a horse is free of parasites now taken at the U. S. Government Quarantine Station at Clifton, N. J. and involving a stay there of two or three days, might easily be taken abroad at the horse's own stable and could accompany the horse when shipped to this country so as to avoid the delays of quarantine.

ROSEBEN'S WEIGHTS

In view of all the complaints about weight assignments of over 135 pounds, it is interesting to note that the great sprinter Roseben in 1906 twice won sprints carrying 147 pounds. Incidentally, Roseben ended his days as a hack in the stable of Mrs. Fletcher Harper, wife of the former Master of the Orange County Hunt.

SARATOGA CONTEST

Racing fans are invited to enter a contest which offers a day at the races for two people as its prize, a day which includes lunch at the Clubhouse restaurant at Saratoga, and box seats for the afternoon's program. The Saratoga management offers this reward for the area fan who guesses most closely the actual attendance on opening day of the 1958 Saratoga race meeting, Thursday July 31.

To guide those who wish to look into their crystal balls, the opening day attendance for the past seven years has averaged 15,619, with a high of 16,692 back in 1951, and low of 14,257 on opening day in 1955. Weather, of course, plays a large part where the size of the crowd is concerned, and a long-range
